(Saint Paul, MN) – Today, Saint Paul Police Assistant Chief Matt Bostrom filed his “Registration and Statement of Organization.” The Bostrom for Sheriff Committee has been formed to begin raising funds for a likely run for Ramsey County Sheriff in 2010. “This is an exciting first step in this campaign. I am confident that my commitment to professional public service and to the core values of protecting our citizens, partnering with the community, reducing neighborhood crime, practicing fiscal responsibility, and collaborating with other law enforcement agencies are what the citizens expect from their sheriff,” said Bostrom. “I have found that community changes everything and I am sincerely grateful for the widespread support I have received throughout the county from citizens, law enforcement professionals, and public officials.”

Assistant Chief Bostrom’s campaign committee co-chairs include: Congresswoman Betty McCollum, Ramsey County Commissioner Victoria Reinhardt, Ramsey County Commissioner Tony Bennett, State Senator Mee Moua, and Saint Paul Police Chief John Harrington.

Matt is a native of Saint Paul. He grew up near Lake Phalen and graduated from Johnson High School. He has degrees from Northwestern College, the University of Saint Thomas, and Hamline University, and has more than 27 years of experience in law enforcement. Matt currently resides in the Lowertown neighborhood with his Cheryl, his wife of 27 years. Together they have three adult children: Emily (and husband Andrew) Grant, and Luke.
